UNESCO DOLOMITES – SOUTH TYROL

A year round destination, the Dolomites offer hiking, skiing, wellness, and culinary experiences for travelers seeking quality, nature, and authenticity.

The Dolomites of South Tyrol, in northern Italy near the Austrian and Swiss borders, are a UNESCO World Heritage destination known for their striking limestone mountains and well preserved alpine landscapes. The region combines Italian lifestyle with Alpine precision, shaping a high standard of hospitality, architecture, and service.

Luxury travel in South Tyrol is defined by family run hotels, strong wellness traditions, and a calm, well organized environment. Gastronomy plays a key role, with a cuisine that blends Italian techniques with mountain products and a respected alpine wine culture.

CULTURA DOLOMITI

A way of life where nature, culture, and heartfelt hospitality come together in one of Europe’s most striking mountain landscapes.

At the Cyprianerhof alpine adventure, culinary excellence, deep weelbeing and creative expression blend into a seamless experience.

Rooted in South Tyrolean tradition and shaped by a forward-thinking spirit, Cultura Dolomiti invites guests to embrace a mindful, elevated lifestyle.

From curated mountain excursions to fine dining, wellness rituals, and contemporary cultural programs, everything is designed with intention.

Grounded in values like being playful, natural, forward-looking, vital, and communal.

Our formula for success: a multidimensional experience that nourishes body, mind, and spirit – and redefines what luxury can mean today.
